Office Of The Governor

WHEREAS, Credit Unions are individual, independent cooperatives founded by people for sharing a need for economic advancement, and are beacons of inspiration for people seeking a way to improve the condition of their lives and those of their families; and,

WHEREAS, Credit Unions call for the pooling of personal resources and leadership abilities for the good of the cooperative, and encourage a regular habit of savings so those in need may borrow, as well as foster the desire to repay loans so members may have access to credit when it is required; and,

WHEREAS, Credit Unions join together in educational service systems to remain viable, progressive institutions, better able to serve the expressed or anticipated needs of members; and,

WHEREAS, Credit Unions have found suitable soil in which the seed of cooperation could be planted in more than 80 nations around the world, so that 35,000 Credit Unions can serve the financial needs of 71 million members, associated through local, state, regional and international organizations sharing the same commitment to serving Credit Union members:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GEORGE S. MICKELSON, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim October 19, 1989, as
